Pride and Prejudice

Play

- May 1 - 23
- A sparkling new spin on Jane Austen’s sharpest comedy. Kate Hamill’s adaptation turns the beloved classic upside down, bringing it to life with a thoroughly modern heartbeat. Elizabeth Bennet is clever, quick-witted, and entirely uninterested in marriage, especially to the proud (and maddeningly charming) Mr. Darcy. But between gossip, glances, and a few scandalous swirls around the ballroom, even the steadiest hearts can lose their footing. Brimming with humor and warmth, this Pride & Prejudice is a love story with impeccable manners and absolutely no chill. Proof that even the classics can still surprise you.
- Matinee performances are Wednesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays, and Sundays at 2:00pm
- Evening performances are Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays at 7:30pm
  - There is no Evening Performance on Saturday May 16th & 23rd

  - Price Level 2: $55 per person
  - Price Level 3: $46 per person

Footloose

Musical

- June 12 - July 5
- This musical doesn't just dance, it dazzles! Set to the anthems that defined a generation — "Holding Out for a Hero," "Let's Hear It for the Boy," "Almost Paradise," and of course "Footloose" — this show is sure to kick off an electrifying summer. Dancing is not a crime...except in Bomont, Texas. Then Ren McCormack rolls in, all city swagger, restless energy, and a heartbeat too loud to ignore, which catches the eye of the preacher's daughter with a wild streak of her own. When Ren's beat hits, the quiet cracks, the pulse quickens, and the town just can't stand still. What begins as rebellion becomes revival, grief gives way to groove, and a community reclaims its rhythm.

  - Also Friday June 26th & July 3rd
- Evening performances are Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays at 7:30pm

RENT

Musical

- July 24 - August 15
- Thirty years ago, RENT ignited Broadway like a lightning bolt — a raw, raucous, Pulitzer Prize-winning love letter that gave voice to the misfits, the rebels, the ones who loved without permission. Three decades later, its fire still burns. In the East Village, a patchwork of outsiders fight to create and survive in a city that's forgotten them. They turn struggle into art and fear into defiance. Through loss, love, and the noise of the city, they find strength together in the face of adversity. Based on Puccini's masterpiece, La Bohème, and fueled by its electric rock score and unflinching humanity, RENT is one of the most influential musicals of the 20th century, reimagined this season with the bold artistry of Flat Rock Playhouse. Join the revolution. No Day But Today.

The Odd Couple

Play

- August 28 - September 19
- Pour a drink and duck for cover — domestic bliss is about to get messy. Meet Felix: impeccably pressed, emotionally distressed, and suddenly single. Meet Oscar: charmingly ruffled, habitually late, and blissfully allergic to coasters. When Felix moves in with his old pal Oscar after a marital meltdown, neatness meets nonsense, and the sparks fly. Ashtrays overflow, tempers flare, and laughter fills the living room in Neil Simon's effervescent comedy of friendship, forgiveness, and the fine art of driving each other crazy. The Odd Couple is a classic cocktail of chaos and charm. Proof that opposites attract...so long as they don't share a kitchen.

Sister Act

Musical

- October 2 - 25
- When disco diva Deloris Van Cartier witnesses a crime, she hides out in the last place anyone would look — a convent. Suddenly, the sequins are swapped for habits, and the nightclub turns into a nave. But when Deloris brings her unholy amount of soul to the choir loft, heaven gets a whole new groove. Sister Act is a holy-rolling, soul-lifting celebration of sisterhood, second chances, and songs that raise the roof. As Deloris helps the sisters find their voices, they just might change her heart in return. Part divine comedy, part disco revival, it's proof that a little funk — and a lot of faith — can turn any sanctuary into a showstopper.
